Saint Boniface

Feastday June 5

St. Boniface was born at Crediton in the kingdom of Wessex and was named Winfrid at birth. He is the patron saint of Germany.

Winfrid was of a respected and prosperous family. Against his father's wishes he devoted himself at an early age to the monastic life. He received his theological training in the Benedictine monasteries. He taught in the abbey school and at the age of 30 became a priest.

In 716 AD, Boniface set out on a missionary expedition to Frisia, intending to convert the inhabitants by preaching to them in their own language. His efforts, however, were frustrated by the war then being carried on between Charles Martel and Radbod, king of the Frisians, and he returned to Nursling.

In 723, Boniface felled the holy oak tree dedicated to Thor near the present-day town of Fritzlar in northern Hesse. He did this with the Prophet Elijah in mind. Boniface called upon Thor to strike him down if he cut the "holy" tree. Boniface started to chop the oak down, when suddenly a great wind, as if by miracle, blew the ancient oak over. When Thor did not strike him down, the people converted to Christianity. He built a chapel from its wood at the site where today stands the cathedral of Fritzlar.

The felling of Thor's Oak is commonly regarded as the beginning of German Christianization.

Boniface was killed in Frisia in 754.
